

TGCI Bookmarks

Jayne Kesler

Are you looking for a way to promote your garden club? TGCI, Inc. has created a new bookmark to promote the state organization as well as the individual clubs for your use. The new informative bookmark has the TGCI, Inc. logo, mission, projects, and accomplishments on one side and has the other side for the individual garden clubs to personalize so they can promote their clubs.

The individual club side of the bookmark provides the space to display your club logo and flower. You can also share your club's mission, meeting schedule, programs, projects, officers and/or phone numbers for interested guests to contact. Drawings and photographs of your activities and projects of your club can be included. This side of the bookmark is to inform the community of the activities of the club and hopefully, encourage others to join your garden club.

The Indiana Gardens will publish the template for the bookmark for you to download, add your garden club information, and print the number of copies you feel you can distribute in your community. The club side of the bookmark can be changed and updated as your club chooses. Please take advantage of this opportunity to promote your club by making the bookmarks available in libraries, churches, Chamber of Commerce's and other public places.
